

ABSTRACT

The invention is to improve the throughput for a wireless transmission. Multiple antennas are activated in the same frequency at the same time to facilitate parallel transmission. A systematic processes are 5 provided to achieve high throughput transmission.